PROCEDURE

In The Event of an Anaphylactic Emergency

1. The trained staff/care provider should immediately administer the EpiPen (Adrenalin injection) as instructed.

2. Alert front office- must call triple zero for an intensive care ambulance – tell the operator that it is for a suspected anaphylactic reaction.

3. Immediately after calling triple zero, staff must contact the child’s parent(s) / guardian(s).

4. All emergency action plans must specially state that when calling an ambulance you must state the phrases

   “anaphylactic reaction” and “require rapid transportation to hospital via intensive care ambulance”

5. On arrival of the ambulance, the staff must inform the paramedics of the steps taken prior to their arrival (whether an Epi-Pen was administered, the dosage, time given etc)
